VI. Important Production and Sales Policy

Looking back on 2022, COVID-19 control measures that lasted for nearly three years were finally easing, but at the same time, the quantitative easing measures imposed by the U.S. during the pandemic led to a sharp rise in end-user demand. The outbreak of the Russia-Ukraine war resulted in energy and food woes, causing severe inflation in the market not seen in four decades. High cost of living has impacted the purchasing power of end consumers, while reduced purchase intention among end consumers has triggered a rapid reversal in end-user demand. Meanwhile, China's strict COVID-19 control measures have also seriously affected end-user consumption and demand. In addition to the rapid decline in demand across the three major global markets, the U.S. Federal Reserve's policy of raising interest rates to curb inflation has confirmed the persistent sluggishness of global demand. A surge in demand in the first half of 2022 brought about a severe shortage of supply. However, the situation changed drastically to a sharp contraction in end-user demand in the second half of the year, which in turn had a serious impact on the electronics industry as a whole and related industry chains. In addition to changes on the demand side, the China-US trade decoupling has added new and significant uncertainties to supply chain management.

The high inventories in each industry chain caused by soaring demand during the COVID-19 period are not expected to return to reasonable levels until the second quarter of 2023. The impact of external inventories is expected to diminish in the second half of 2023, and the focus of observation will shift to whether and to what extent demand in the end market recovers. In an industry environment with declining demand and excessive inventories, the company's operations in 2023 will center on controlling and eliminating external inventories, maintaining and increasing market share, controlling gross margins, and engaging in flexible production and sales to confront possible market reversals.

At the sales level, we continue to optimize our product portfolio in existing applications, leverage our channel advantage to keep bolstering partnerships with brand clients, and strive to maintain and even expand our market share at the time of declining demand. We ensure that our information are up-to-date and in sync with our clients while keeping abreast of trends in the end market. At the same time, the company is investing resources in acquiring more leading brand clients, and also increasing new customer reach for our existing products and the proportion of our products incorporated in new projects.

At the production level, the out-of-stock situation among systems manufacturers has improved significantly due to changes in the macro environment. Although the IC upstream supply chain is not expected to experience a systemic shortage in 2023 as it did during the COVID-19 period, there are still significant changes anticipated in the market in 2023 that need to be addressed proactively. The ability to synchronize production and sales in real time and respond swiftly is an important capability for the company to cope with the rapidly changing market. Meanwhile, grasping and preparing in advance for the company's position in the business cycle is the key to the company's ability to identify market changes in the next stage. In the long run, the overall demand for semiconductors in the electronics industry will continue to rise with the development of emerging applications such as in-vehicle electronics, high performance computing, artificial intelligence, and 5G. As revisions of industry inventories are expected to end in 2023 and demand in various fields of applications will gradually return to normal, bringing new qualified suppliers into manufacturing and supplying is one of the necessary measures in business operations. Aside from the long-term trend of semiconductor demands, the company is also planning to establish a new supply chain in response to geopolitical tension and diversify sources of supply in the upstream sector to comply with rules and specifications in various regional markets for the purpose of managing and controlling supply risks in the future.

On the subject of marketing, the continuous launch of new products remains the most important cornerstone of our growth. In the short term, the company will actively plan extended products based on our existing product lines with the intention of stepping up efforts to expand the breadth of our product lines and increase market coverage for our products. In the medium to long term, we will focus on the development of key components and core chips for existing applications while planning multi-technology product lines to meet existing clients' demand for different technology categories and provide complete system solutions for the market. The company will continue to develop high-end applications such as in-vehicle, high-performance computing, enterprise, commercial, and industrial markets in order to create higher added value.

VII. Research and Development

With research and development (R&D) and product strategies that are value-based, driven by customer demand, and aimed at high-quality growth, the company continues to move towards higher-end technology and advanced applications.

(I) Power management

The company continues to develop next-generation power solutions for PC applications, including high-energy density power converters, core power supplies, and battery management products. Meanwhile, we also work with our brand clients to develop customized solutions to enhance the competitiveness of their end products. The company continues to develop memory module solutions, including products of different types of technology to increase application coverage. In addition, we invest in developing higher performance solutions for next-generation server memory modules so as to penetrate the server memory market. In the field of network communication applications, we continue to not only work with our clients to develop reference designs and end users to introduce next-generation low-noise power solutions, but also invest in developing enterprise-level solutions to meet our clients' diverse product demand. In the field of servers, we bolster the development of high power and multi-phase technologies as well as digital protocol control technologies in order to gradually build power supply solutions required by systems. While developing next-generation power solutions with our brand clients in the field of storage on an ongoing basis, the company is also gradually expanding into customized solutions for solid-state applications. In the field of security monitoring, we work with our clients to develop more highly integrated PMIC customization solutions and battery management solutions, with a view to helping them improve system performance and simplify system design. In the field in-vehicle application, the company collaborates with SOC brand manufacturers on reference designs based on AEC standards to meet the demand of automobile manufacturers for factory-installed modules.

(II) Motor driver

The company is already a leading supplier in the NB/DT market and will continue to work with top-tier brand clients to develop next-generation cooling fan solutions to help them and the industry improve heat dissipation performance on an ongoing basis. In the field of server applications, heat dissipation performance is extremely important to system stability, power consumption, and lifetime performance. The company continues to work with top-tier clients to develop customized products that provide higher heat dissipation performance while simplifying system design and introducing next-generation solutions in different application segments. We also continue to increase our market share in gaming applications with new highperformance products. In addition to providing high-quality leading solutions in information and communication applications, the company has also invested significant R&D resources in the development of high-powered programmable products for the industrial motor market. We expect that the industrial market will become another driving force for the growth of our business units through higher performance and design flexibility. In the field of in-vehicle applications, the company has not only been working with top-tier clients to develop heat dissipation solutions required by various types of in-vehicle modules, but also gradually obtaining AEC standard certifications and gaining recognition from end users, in hopes of becoming a major supplier in the field of in-vehicle applications as soon as possible.

(III) LED driver

The company has achieved the goals of the introduction and mass production in the LED local dimming market for the top-tier brand clients. In the TV and display market, the company continues to develop highly integrated solutions to meet next-generation demand for more sophisticated contrast displays while helping clients reduce overall production costs to increase market penetration for local dimming technology. In the field of in-vehicle applications, the corresponding products have been certified for in-vehicle use, and the company has been cooperating with solution providers to develop complete solutions and promote them to smart cockpit display applications.

(IV) Audio

In the field of audio technology, the company's main application markets are TVs and monitors. We continue to develop next-generation audio solutions to improve system audio performance and cooperate with brand clients to develop customized low-noise audio solutions.

(V) Optical

With the completion of core IP development in the optical field, the company has been actively promoting and testing for the top-tier brand clients. We will continue to develop high-performance, highly integrated, low-noise technologies and discuss with our brand clients about adjustments to product specifications in order to meet their latest system requirements. Based on existing IP, we will develop a series of products as soon as possible according to the demand of various clients in order to strengthen the breadth of our product lines, gradually boost our visibility in the optical market, and increase the incorporation of our products into various projects.

In terms of human resources, we have gradually acquired more top-tier brand clients and industry-leading clients while establishing a solid foothold in the field of high-value applications and developing high-value products, and the number of potential collaborative projects is way higher than the company's current R&D resources. As the number of high-end projects increases while products, along with their specifications and performance, become more complicated, there is an ever-growing need for the company to expand our R&D team. The company actively recruits R&D and engineering staff externally on an ongoing basis to expand our R&D capabilities. Internally, we continue to adjust our organization, processes and division of labor among units to improve R&D efficiency in our R&D team. For the development of new fields and technology, we not only recruit externally and train talents on our own, but also strengthen cooperation with the academia, research institutions and third parties in the industry, or engage in technology transfer to accelerate the development of new applications and increase the speed of project development. As far as finances and investment are concerned, the company has been running well and accumulating resources in recent years, while our management system and corporate culture are also becoming more mature. The company will continue to focus on suitable investment targets and teams in the market with hopes of speeding up the establishment of new technologies and new channels, as well as injecting more momentum into our future growth.

With the reversal of demand in the end market and changes in regional landscape around the world, 2023 is going to be a very challenging year. Compared to 2022, supply chains will no longer be tight due to excess industry inventories and declining demand. On the sales side, how to clear out external inventories, boost market share, and maintain gross margin becomes the key priority in the operations of the company. We will keep a close eye, prepare in advance, and react swiftly to market conditions and build a good foundation during market downturn so that we can seize the opportunity to grow when the next wave of change comes. The new products that we have launched over the years in various fields of applications will continue to serve as the critical source of growth momentum for the company. We do not lack growth momentum, thanks to our longstanding investment of a large amount of resources in developing high-value products and fields of application. The company will actively promote new products and obtain more design approvals, so that the company will be able to get our business performance back on growth track in no time when market demand recovers gradually. Generally speaking, in addition to the rapid adjustment of short-term operations, the company continues to develop high-end technologies, high-value products, and high-value application markets based on our value-centric strategies for the long term, so that they become the core and cornerstone of our growth.

In addition to operations, with ESG as a guiding principle for our sustainable development, we continue to improve operational processes, actively promote digital transformation, and strengthen information security management to enhance organizational effectiveness. We also continue to promote energy conservation and carbon reduction to improve energy efficiency. The company not only plans to increase participation in social welfare and keeps bolstering employee relations and employee care, but also enhances a friendly workplace environment on an ongoing basis. In addition, the company carries on improving product design and quality systems to strengthen product responsibility. While constantly strengthening supplier and client partnerships, we have also established the ESG Team to promote sustainability-related issues. On the premise of sustainable operation, we hope to work unceasingly with our employees, clients, and suppliers to achieve high-quality growth and create higher value for the industry in which we operate.

Finally, we would like to thank all our colleagues, shareholders, clients and suppliers for their continued support and contributions.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Anpec Electronics Corporation and subsidiaries (the "Group") as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole and, in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements are stated as follows:

Timing of sales revenue recognition

Description

One of the sales transaction methods of the Group is to place inventories in distribution warehouses and sales revenue is recognised after customers picked up goods from the distribution warehouses. Given that the consistency between the timing of delivery and timing of revenue recognition is significant to the financial statements, we considered the timing of revenue recognition from distribution warehouse sales a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

- 1. Understood the operation nature of the Group and evaluated the reasonableness of its revenue recognition policy.
- 2. Understood and tested the internal control procedures in relation to the sales transaction cycle to evaluate managements' internal control over timing of revenue recognition.
- 3. Sampled the sales transactions from distribution warehouses during a certain period before and after the balance sheet date, reviewed trade terms on customer purchase orders or contract documents, checked supporting documents of goods transferred provided by the warehouse custodians, assessed the timing of transferring control over goods whose sales revenue was recognised and ensured the sales transactions are recorded in proper periods.
- 4. Performed confirmation for the inventory quantities of significant distribution warehouses and agreed the results to the accounting records to ensure the accuracy of the distribution warehouses' inventory quantities at the end of the year.

Evaluation of inventories

Description

The Group primarily manufactures and sells products such as power IC, component and its module, wireless and network communication IC and photoelectric driver IC. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Please refer to Notes 4(13) and 5(2) for the accounting policies on evaluation of inventories and the uncertainty of accounting estimates applied on evaluation of inventories.

Given that the calculation of the net realisable value for inventories over a certain age and individually identified as obsolete or slow-moving involves estimation uncertainty and there is a huge variety in inventory items which requires substantial amount of time for performing audit procedures, we considered the evaluation of inventories a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

- 1. Assessed the reasonableness of accounting policies on evaluation of inventories.
- 2. Checked supporting documents of inventory movement transactions and verified the appropriateness of inventory aging reports used by management for evaluation.
- 3. Sampled individual inventory and checked against the latest purchase or sale price information for the net realisable value for inventory evaluation and referred to inventory clearance estimated from historical information for the net realisable value for inventories over a certain age and individually identified as obsolete or slow-moving to assess the reasonableness of net realisable value.
- 4. Tested the comparison results of inventory cost and net realisable value and then assessed the adequacy of allowance for inventory valuation loss.

Other matter – Parent company only financial reports

We have audited and expressed an unqualified opinion on the parent company only financial statements of Anpec Electronics Corporation as at and for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TRANSLATED FROM CHINESE

PWCR22003346

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Anpec Electronics Corporation

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying parent company only balance sheets of Anpec Electronics Corporation (the "Company") as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related parent company only statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the parent company only financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the parent company only financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its parent company only financial performance and its parent company only cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the parent company only financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Company's 2022 parent company only financial statements. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the parent company only financial statements as a whole and, in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Company's 2022 parent company only financial statements are stated as follows:

Timing of sales revenue recognition

Description

One of the sales transaction methods of the Company is to place inventories in distribution warehouses and sales revenue is recognised after customers picked up goods from the distribution warehouses. Given that the consistency between the timing of delivery and timing of revenue recognition is significant to the financial statements, we considered the timing of revenue recognition from distribution warehouse sales a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

- 1. Understood the operation nature of the Company and evaluated the reasonableness of its revenue recognition policy.
- 2. Understood and tested the internal control procedures in relation to the sales transaction cycle to evaluate managements' internal control over timing of revenue recognition.
- 3. Sampled the sales transactions from distribution warehouses during a certain period before and after the balance sheet date, reviewed trade terms on customer purchase orders or contract documents, checked supporting documents of goods transferred provided by the warehouse custodians, assessed the timing of transferring control over goods whose sales revenue was recognised and ensured the sales transactions are recorded in proper periods.
- 4. Performed confirmation for the inventory quantities of significant distribution warehouses and agreed the results to the accounting records to ensure the accuracy of the distribution warehouses' inventory quantities at the end of the year.

Evaluation of inventories

Description

The Company primarily manufactures and sells products such as, component and its module, wireless and network communication IC and photoelectric driver IC. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Please refer to Notes 4(12) and 5(2) for the accounting policies on evaluation of inventories and the uncertainty of accounting estimates applied on evaluation of inventories.

Given that the calculation of the net realisable value for inventories over a certain age and individually identified as obsolete or slow-moving involves estimation uncertainty and there is a huge variety in inventory items which requires substantial amount of time for performing audit procedures, we considered the evaluation of inventories a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

- 1. Assessed the reasonableness of accounting policies on evaluation of inventories.
- 2. Checked supporting documents of inventory movement transactions and verified the appropriateness of inventory aging reports used by management for evaluation.
- 3. Sampled individual inventory and checked against the latest purchase or sale price information for the net realisable value for inventory evaluation and referred to inventory clearance estimated from historical information for the net realisable value for inventories over a certain age and individually identified as obsolete or slow-moving to assess the reasonableness of net realisable value.
- 4. Tested the comparison results of inventory cost and net realisable value and then assessed the adequacy of allowance for inventory valuation loss.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the parent company only financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the parent company only financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the parent company only financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors'report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these parent company only financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the parent company only financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the parent company only financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the parent company only financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
